

CENTRAL CONTROL FOR THE REST OF US

Traditional central control systems have many benefits for irrigation managers and landscapes, but the difficulty and expense of learning, operating, and maintaining the system inspired Weathermatic to produce a more modern solution.

“The greatest innovation requires the smallest change.”

Mike Mason
President and CEO
Weathermatic

SmartLink
Wireless
Landscape
Network

is central control for the rest of us.

- Affordable
- User-friendly
- Cloud-based
- Manage from your smartphone, tablet, or computer

CITY OF MESQUITE, TEXAS PARKS & RECREATION DEPARTMENT

- 100+ sports fields
- 1,600 acres of parkland
- 72 miles of medians & right-of-ways

Travis Sales, Manager of Park Services, was devoted to central control until he learned about SmartLink. When he switched the Parks Department's entire irrigation network to SmartLine controllers with SmartLink, he was immediately impressed with how quick and simple it was.

CHALLENGE

- Large variety of irrigation needs
- Central Control system was working well but difficult to learn and install, labor intensive, not portable
- Central Control was expensive to purchase and maintain, plus constant concerns about lightning damage

“With central control, yes everything is in one place, but it's in your office. So many times you get the call when you're not in the office. Now I can just handle it on my cell phone. That has made life so much easier.”

– Travis Sales

SOLUTION

- Connected SmartLink Wireless Network to the city's 25 existing SmartLine controllers with complete install and programming done in under 2 hours
- Parks Manager could operate entire system from his smart phone

RESULT

- City saves thousands on labor, repairs, travel, with 24/7 mobile access
- SmartLink system withstands lightning storms, provides valuable and timely reports

“From a budgetary and manpower standpoint: SmartLink is central control you have access to all the time. It's like having an irrigation tech on that site, 24 hours a day...The amount of money and manpower you'll save is unbelievable.”

- Travis Sales